

WEDNESDAY EVENING. OCT. 31, 1906.

OF ALL the congressional campaigns conducted in Virginia within the past twenty years, that now about to end has been by far the dullest and most uninteresting, and indications are that a very light vote will be polled throughout the State. Indeed, there is nothing to give animation to the struggle, save in two districts where, as heretofore stated, there are sharp contes and even in these the voters are displaying no wild enthusiasm on either side. In the Ninth both parties seem to perfer a "still hunt" for votes, and for this reason there has been no great amount of public speaking except by the candidates themselves. The candidates have gone among the voters and had talks with them, urging their respective claims for office. The result is that the best of feeling prevails, both among the candidates and the voters, and representatives of both sides declare it has been a clean canvass.

THE republican managers in New York are becoming slarmed and have sent out a circular which reads.

"To republicans: There is great danger through apathy of losing the next House of Representatives. It was lost in 1890—an off year between presidental elections—and in 1892 the democrate gained President, Senate, and House and the people got the Wilson-Gorman tariff and ruio. This is an off year between presidental campaigns, and throu h spathy there is danger of re-pearing the experience of 1890 to 1892. Democratic success on November 6 means an end to prosperity. Don't risk it, re-publicans. Dont fail to vote, and see to it that your neighbor votes with you.

But for their unfortunate nominations in New York and the consequent demoralization of the party there, the democrats could have easily carried that state in next Tuesday's election.

FIFTY-SEVEN Grand Trunk conductors on the Montreal, Portland, Toronto and Ohicago divisions have been dismissed for accepting tips from passengers, particularly commercial travelers, instead of tickets. The management had for some time suspected leakages, and the fact that one conductor is worth $100, 000 and another has six grocery stores increased the suspicion. Now the question is whether the fellows who take the dismissed conductors places wont imitate their predecessors and attempt to get rich quickly, as they did.

SECRETARY TAFT admitted in his recent Baltimore speech that the tariff encourages trusts, and that there is an increasing sentiment in the republican party in favor of tariff revision; but he prefers to attack the trusts in the courts instead of in the Congress by cutting off their source of plunder. The monsters are well content with this programme. Anything, as says the Philadelphia Recsumers of the country pay the cost of Officers and enlisted men of the United States army will wear in the future identification tags made of aluminum and bearing their names and the regiments to which they belong, engraved on the surface. In accordance with a recommendation made by the surgeon general of the army the acting secretary of war today directed that these tags, which will be of the size of a silver half dollar and will be worn around the neck, be manufactured and issued, as soon as possiible, to the troops of the American army.

The use of such a tag is deemed by the authorities of the war department of the greatest inportance both on account of its value in adjusting matters of record and pension, and for 'he satisfaction of relatives and friends of the soldier. In the opinion of the war department offi cials the importance of such tokens of identification is fully demonstrated by dead of the civil war. Such a badge is generally used in foreign armies.

UNSAFE BRIDGES.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette.

The awful recital in your paper yesbuilt nearly fifteen years ago, in only a temporary manner and long since past its usefulness. It seems to us that it is your duty as guardian of the welfare of those around you to call attention to the character of this bridge over which hundreds of people are carried every day. I will be too late when a similar accident to that recorded in yesterday's paper has happened, and it is peculiarly the prov-ince of a newspaper to call attention to such death-traps and to do so repeatedly until the danger is removed. The writer does not pretend to know anything about bridges, but he does know that any bridge without side rails high enough and strong enough to prevent a car from leaving the bridge in case of an accident is unsafe; and that the failure of those to whom the people have a right to look to for protection to see that as nearly as possible every measure is taken to insure at least ordinary safety, comes very close to being criminal neglect.

"Jamestown" is fast approaching with its myriads of invited guests. Will we not be lacking in our dutyas hosts, and in that hospitality which is the proud boast of every soul that calls Virginia its home if we allow these, our invited guests, to come here and risk their lives in crossing this bridge? Is there not a possibility of our proving ourselves their murderers WATCHMAN.

Against Allowing Pastors Discount.

Alleging that they make no profit and must frequently lose on sales to ministers, dress-makers and theatrical people, who "squeeze" them for 10 per cent, discounts, the Norfolk retail merchants are today trying to combine among themselves to stop this practice and put ministers on equal footing with all other buyers.

The merchants say the discount to preachers is for their influence in sending them cus-

Rev. Geo. W. Wray, Methodist, sars any discussion of this is an insult to the ministry.

Rev. Dr. W. G. Starr says he knows of no reason for discounts to preachers, except that it is a matter of "civil righteousness."

Rev. George McFrdden says he sees no reason that preachers should not accept discount if they are expected to give anything in return.

Two of the women seized their victim while the other pair daubed stove polish on her face until it was entirely covered. Then molasses was poured on her head and a cost of feathers applied.

Thus disfigured the woman was march ed out of the house and to a railroad camp, where 200 men are employed. A Stumbling Block in the Alliance. negotiations looking for a renewal of the triple alliance between Italy, Austria-Hungary and Germany. In the com-plications which have arisen diplomats A coal pslace built of all the various kinds of coal found in the United States see further evidence of the new grouping of powers which is said to be coming, although official announcement has been made that the new alliance has been accomplished through the arrangement of a military convention between England, France and Italy.

Italy, encouraged by her friendship with England and France, is now demanding as the price of her continuance in the triple alliance that Austria-Hungary shall recognize her temporal supremacy in Rome over the claims of the Pope to exercise such authority.

This is the statement made to the cor respondent of the Publishers' Press on bigh authority. Through the turn the negotiations for renewing the alliance have taken, the pope has thus become the central figure in a delicate diplo matic battle. Italy is determined to play a more important part in European polities than she ever has before. She now demands that Austria shall discontinue her ostracism of the house of Savoy, and declares that Emperor Francis Joseph must come either in person to visit King Victor Emanuel or send a personal representative to pay such a state call.

Such an act on the part of Austria will amount to a renunciation of the claims of the pope to exercise temporal power in Rome. Naturally, the Vatican is opposed to the plan.

It is now stated that the object of the recent visit of Herr von Techirsky, the German Foreign Minister to Rome, was to try to persuade the Vatican to allow a visit from a Hapsburger to King Victor, so the triple alliance can be renewed.

As yet the pope has not consented, but negotiations to this end are still in prog ress. Unless an Austrian visit to Italy is arranged, the old time Alliance be tween Germany, Austria and Italy may cations which have arisen seem likely to weaken it. That a new alliance between Italy, France, and England should folfow seems quite within the range of pos-sibility in the opinion of diplomats.

Charges Castellane with Assault.

Paris, Oct. 31 - That Count Boni de Castellane frequently struck and slapped his wife, formerly Miss Anna Gould, during the scenes between the two when he made his oft-repeated demands for money, was the startling declaration made by Countess Anna's attorney, Maitre Cruppi, in the hearing of the Countess's suit for divorce which began today. Other equally as startling revethe countess has submitted during the years of her married life are expected, and the whole hearing promises to be sensational in the extreme.

Maitre Cruppi opened the hearing by demanding an absolute divorce for his client and the custody of the children. Eleven cases of alleged infidelity or the part of Count Boni we e cited by M Cruppi, and the atterney declares that Boni had five different places for his meetings with other women. At this point Bom's attorney inter rupted the proceedings to demand the the women should be named.

M. Cruppi objected to this on the ground that it would uselessly involve other persons in scandal. The only name mentioned in this connection was that of a notorious demi-monde, Luce de Lemmos, a letter from whom, addressed to her husband, Countess Anna found in a table drawer last December. Countess Anna had known of her husband's relations with other women since 1898, M. Cruppi asserted. The revelation came to her when she found a package of letters written by society women to Boni. When she accused her husband Boni

Disgusted With Her Royal Husband. Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 31 - Utterly disgusted with the boorishness of her husband, Prince Gustavus Adolphus, son of the Crown Prince Gustavus, Princess Edward, is threatening to return to London to live with her parents, and so far a policeman on Ninth street northwest every influence which it is possible to bring to bear upon her has proved insufficient to make her promise to forego taking the course. The young royal couple were married in June, 1905. Her sixteen months existence as the wife of the Swedish prince has thoroughly convinced Princes Margaret that her marriage was a great mistake, and she is anxious to escape from her husband that she may enjoy some peace of mind once more.

Incompatibility of temper is respon-sible tor the troubles of the couple. The princess is a sensitive, highly woman, while Prince Gustavus Adolp hus is rough and boorish. They are exact opposites in nature, and the coarseness of her husband has about driven the princess to distraction.

Every effort is being made at court to hush up the scandal and the princess has been urged for the sake of her infent son, not to leave her husband. So tar, however, she has refused to promise.

The New York Election.

New York, Oct. 31 -New York city vill determine the result of the guber natorial campaign in the Empire That is the best opinion obtained today from the leaders conducting the canvas f Charles E Hughes and Hearst. On the magnitude of Hearst's plurality in the metropolis depends his ection as Governor of the State.

Reports to the republican and demo eratic state committee indicate without much doubt that the usual republican upstate pluralities will be much reduced this year. Seutiment has crystallized above the Bronx, and, unless all signs tail, and there is an under current, which no one has been able to detect, the republican plurality of 100,000 above the Harlem will not be approximated this year by many thousands. There are a nultiplicity of reasons given by the re

Sheridan, Wy., Oct. 31 —Fighting be-tween the renegade Utes and the cavalry orces now in pursuit of them is expect ed at almost any hour. The troops have about succeeded in rounding up the Utes and as the latter declare they will fight rather than return to their reservation, where they claim they cannot get enough to eat, bloodshed seems unavoidable. To make the situation worse, 800 Cheyenne braves, equipped with modern rifles and well supplied with ammunition are ready to join the Utes if they have not already done so. Settlers living in the region through which the Indians, are moving, are panic stricken. Women and children are being hurried to points of safety, and there is not a ranch in the country side that is not fortified. That there is reason for the apprehension of the settlers is shown by the murder yes-terday of a sheep herder on Batte creek by Utes.
